

DAILY GAZETTE

J. H. KOOCLE, Editor.

Too Utterly Too Too.

For the Chicago Tribune.
Pessimism.
Come, darling, lean with me o'er the edge
Of Delight, and behold how lily
It hath sped. See the baby's bent lip—pledge
Of fealty to new-blown breast-lily
And sweet mother-milk. But milk builds teeth.

That mock the builder. And the acorn.
Swollen of De Light, splits its death
To be a leaf, that hides its leaf in scorn;
And, grown to a tree, sways its bridal wreath
For bitter acorns. Your finger-tips,
Love's rosy skirmishers, drive wooing
From your hand to cheeks; they to your lips
To deride wine-press of swift undoing.
Yea, Love is blossomed incompleteness;
Yea, the trod grapes of sour Uncertainty
Drip in the half-full cup of sweetness;
And broad-pinioned Life's uplifted crest
Is Death's prophetic winged with fecundness.

Oscar F. Jones.

For the Chicago Inter-Ocean.

THE ANSWER.

Ah, Oscar! what'er gettin' through
You? What's this whistling of this what?
Don't let a thing like this run too
Far—this isness, be-ness and be-not.
All inter is the twitter of your twit.
Consummate, too the twangness of your twang.
Too jolly all-out, the witness of your wit,
Phenomenal the bangness of your bang—
As over the world writing of your writ.
You fling the fluttering dizziness of your fling.

Oh, why the which-what of the sputtering spit
That intercepts the coming of your quirt?
Ah, and the wail of that empty heart,
The do-some-like down-ness of this doleful drizzle!

Ah, woe! the wingings of that waddling dart.
The ending of its wingdings in a tizzle!

Ow, ow! the outchness of the smart.
Of life that lives to only moose and mizzle!

ESTHER.

P. S.—Who the devil is Oscar F. Jones, anyhow?

Oscar F. Jones is an attorney of this city who endorses to rival the Rev. James Bullard of Iowa, and the sweet singer of Michigan. Jones is a divorced man, who has a divorcee daughter, so "Pessimism" runs in the family.
